Silent Peasant Wayhouse: This inn is located in the city of Drake. This is a large inn and was initially started because of all the teamsters pass through. We tried their signature drink called the "Good Djinni" it was tasty but a little overpriced. Our main course a good lobster with Nymph knocker potatoes which were superb. The service was slow, and the innkeeper was fussing over all the little things. An excellent inn, but a new owner would better serve the establishment.
